this book investigates how zimbabwean literary texts subvert state sponsored amnesia when it comes to the many forms of past and ongoing political violence in zimbabwe zimbabwean literature provides an important space for confronting the past and reflecting on how violence continues into the present day this violent past was forgotten either through the promise of violence against those who sought to remember or by depicting the violence as a necessary tool of a never ending decolonisation process or by appealing to the logic of letting bygones be bygones for instance by claiming that the five years of the gukurahundi genocide were a moment of madness robert mugabe set a climate of state sponsored amnesia which has persisted through subsequent acts of state violence and into the mnangagwa era drawing on key works by shimmer chinodya alexander kanengoni yvonne vera novuyo rosa tshuma brian chikwava chenjerai hove panashe chigumadzi and noviolet bulawayo this book investigates how fictional works challenge this state sponsored amnesia in relation both to gukurahundi and other past and ongoing forms of violence bringing together iconic literary texts from 1980 to 2022 the book draws a common thread through the texts connected histories and highlights their role in de silencing the past situated at the interface of memory studies and literary criticism this book will be of interest to researchers across the fields of african literature politics development and history lowentahal looks at the benefits and burdens of the past how we study the past and how we change it temporal divergence creates a need for new narratives and paradigms in diverging time david carvounas supports this assertion through detailed expository and diagnostic readings of kant hegel and marx he focuses on their contribution to our understanding of modernity as an epochal shift in the relationship between past and future recasting the significance of the past and future of the modern present despite their different solutions to the problem of temporal coordination they urged the modern world to look not to the past but to the newly opened future for continuity meaning and purpose this book not only offers a fresh look at a defining characteristic of modernity but also makes a compelling case that a coherent modern temporal structure requires a sustainable orientation toward the future an orientation that kant hegel and marx delineate in distinctive and powerful ways
